RESCUED AIR VICTIMS DUE TO LAND SUNDAY

BOSTON, Oct 18—The Coast Guard cutter Bibb, which rescued 69 passengers and crew from the trans-Atlantic clipper Bermuda Sky Queen, today plowed at 20 knots through heavy seas toward a warm welcome in Boston harbor tomorrow.

The Bibb reported she was encountering unfavorable winds but still hoped to make the harbor at noon

Acting Mayor John B Hynes will lead a delegation of city officials down the harbor in police and fire boats to welcome the rescuers and rescued and harbor craft prepared to tie down whistles in a noisy reception.

Churchill and Stalin Yalta Veto Debate Reported by Byrnes

This is a serialization of James F Byrnes' 'Speaking Frankly" —six of fifteen chapters of the book published Oct 15, 1947, by Harper & Brothers Copyright, 1947, by James F Byrnes Foundation (A Charitable Trust).

IN OCTOBER, 1943, Secretary of State Cordell Hull had taken with him to Moscow the first proposal that finally developed into the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a United Nations organization He and the President believed it would be far easier to obtain agreement on a plan for a peace organization while the war was still in progress. How right they were!

At the conclusion of the Dumbarton Oaks Conference, in the autumn of 1944, the only major point remaining at issue was the formula for voting in the security council The Soviet delegation had insisted that all decisions in the security council must be by a unanimous vote on the part of the major powers. We agreed that no decision committing our military forces to action should be taken without our consent but did not believe the right of veto should extend to all matters

We finally had devised a compromise formula which we hoped the Soviets could be persuaded to accept, and the President sent it direct to Marshal Stalin on Dec 5 At the same time, the state department prepared and delivered to the Soviet and British embassies in Washington lengthy statements in explanation and support of the President's proposal

Stettinius Presents Proposal.

It was on the second day of the conference that Secretary Stettinius formally presented our proposal, and the President then asked for its immediate consideration In supporting the plan, the President referred to the agreement reached at Teheran in which the three heads of government declared: "We recognize fully that supreme responsibility resting upon us and all the United Nations to make a peace that will command the good will of the overwhelming mass of the peoples of the world and banish the scourge and terror of war for many generations."

Conflicting reports of the exchange that followed were presented in the security council of the United Nations in the spring of 1947 by the Soviet and the British representatives during a discussion of the veto power and its relationship to the control of atomic energy. Because of this, and because the veto power has remained one of the most controversial issues of the United Nations structure, it may be of interest to present here the major portion of my shorthand record of the views expressed on the veto issue at Yalta.

Churchill, Stalin Discussion.

Since the United States, as the author of the proposal, had clearly stated its position, the exchange was almost entirely between Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin It follows:

Prime Minister: "The peace of the world depends upon the lasting friendship of the three great powers, but His Majesty's Government feel we should be putting ourselves in a false position if we put ourselves in the position of trying to rule the world when our desire is to serve the world and preserve it from a renewal of the frightful horrors which have fallen upon the mass of its inhabitants. We should make a broad submission to the opinion of the world within the limits stated. We should have the right to state our case against any case stated by the Chinese, for

4-MONTH WAIT SEEN FOR OHIO BONUS PAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert thinks Ohio's veterans of World War II will have to sweat it out for about four months to get their bonus checks, even if the constitutional amendment is approved at the Nov. 4 general election.

The state's chief executive expressed that opinion in a transcribed monthly radio- talk scheduled for playing at various times this weekend by 30 Ohio stations In his transcribed talk, the governor asked "every citizen to express his views at the polls Nov. 4."

He explained a delay in the bonus checks would be necessary because the state would face the complicated procedure of obtaining funds and insuring proper distribution.

In event the amendment should pass the governor said he was asking "all veterans not to expect to receive their checks for at least another four months."

"No intrusion of partisan politics in the state's administration of veteran's affairs" was promised by the governor who also said,

"Nor shall I condone bureaucratic administration of veterans affairs." * * * Nor should there be any competition in veteran's service. Personal or group aspirations and ambitions must never be allowed to interfere.

"* * * I value highly the work beoing done by veterans' organizations and by county and local organizations. * * * Our sole purpose in setting up our state program is to correlate, to aid, to assist—to walk together as partners, supporting each other in the great work of service to the end that every veteran in Ohio will become a self-supporting, productive, tax-paying citizen."

87 BANQUETERS AT LIMA FALL ILL SUDDENLY

Medical Facilities Strained as "Food Poisoning" Breaks Up Dinner.

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Oct 18—At least 87 persons became violently ill last night after eating a turkey dinner at a meeting of region 4 of the National Rural Electric Cooperative association.

Every available physician nurse and ambulance in the city was pressed into service.

Twenty-seven of the victims still were in Lima hospital this morning.

Dr. J. B Poling, city health commissioner, tentatively diagnosed the cause as food poisoning and ordered an analysis of the food served at the banquet.

The meeting, at which 296 guests were served, was broken up as stricken diners began hurriedly leaving their tables They were affected with severe retching and diarrhea

Ambulances Line Up

Ambulances lined up in front of the Barr hotel, where the meeting was held, to shuttle back and forth between it and the Lima hospital.

Two other persons were treated at Findlay hospital, 53 were cared for in the hotel, and five were attended by Beaver Dam physicians

The condition of those still in the hospital today was described as "satisfactory" by attendants

As diners became ill, cots were set up in the hotel to care for them The Red Cross set up an emergency station

Everyone at the speakers' table appeared to have escaped the sickness Among those who became ill was reporter Robert Waldron of the Lima News, who had been assigned to cover the meeting.

Hotel Kitchen Closed

Health Commissioner Poling had the hotel's kitchen closed, pending completion of the food analysis.

The menu for the evening was tomato juice, roast turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, cranberry sauce, giblet gravy, head lettuce, coffee, ice cream and cake

Many of the guests were on their way home to neighboring cities when they were stricken Drug stores in Lima and surrounding communities did a heavy business as sickened persons applied for their own remedies.

Region 4 of the cooperative association embraces Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and West Virginia

ROXIE GREEN FUND FOR MEMORIAL GROWS

$135 Contributed To Provide Grave Marker.

As a gesture of respect to the memory of Roxie Ann Green, the 16-year-old Prospect High school girl murdered Sept. 19, residents of Prospect and community and friends of the Green family have contributed money for a grave site memorial.

A committee comprising Rev. Ralph W. Knoop, pastor of the Prospect Methodist church, George Pugh, president of the Citizens Bank, Dale Sparks, businessman, and C. O. Laucher, C. & O. railroad station agent, have been accepting the voluntary contributions from friends and neighbors of the slain girl and her family. Members of the committee were among the leaders in the search for the girl.

"More than $135 has been contributed so far," Rev. Knoop said. The committee had tentatively thought to raise about $200. "We have ample funds for a headstone and for evergreens to landscape the grave site," he added.

Among the many contributions was a $35 donation given by C. & O. railroad employes who work with Carl Green, father of the girl. The committee will meet soon to arrange disposition of the memorial fund. Rev. Knoop said he would recommend that the family go ahead with what ever plans for the gravesite in Marion cemetery they choose and the fund would be used to see them through.

Housewife Subs for Lily Pons To Win Plaudits of Opera Fans

By The United Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18—A housewife stepped out of retirement last night to substitute for ailing Lily Pons at Lucia and win a triumphant ovation from a socialite audience almost inured to bravura displays

Josephine Tummillo an attractive honey blond began her regular day as Mrs Charles Wiper Jr., yesterday with her usual household chores.

She had no idea it would end close to midnight when the golden curtain of the San Francisco opera fell on a wildly enthusiastic audience that rose to its feet to acclaim her vocal gymnastics in the famed "mad scene"

Miss Pons had been scheduled to sing the part in her second appearance with the San Francisco company this season At the last minute, she came down with a severe case of influenza that confined her to her hotel room

Opera Far from Mind

Miss Tummillo had to get up at 5:30 a m yesterday at her San Mateo home, to take care of her 14-months-old daughter, Charlene, who also was ill with flu Until 11:10 a m the furthest thing from her mind was opera.

"Then" continued the one time Metropolitan opera singer, who retired temporarily when her husband returned from our sea service, "Maestro (Gaetano) Merola phoned"

"He said to drop everything and come right up to San Francisco He wanted to see if I could still sing 'Lucia'"

She and her husband, an ex-army major and San Mateo businessman, drove to San Francisco "in nothing flat"

She had no chance to rehearse with the cast A 6-hour workout with piano accompaniment was her only brush-up for the roles

"I thought I could do it all right, but I was terribly nervous ahead of time and all the way through to the curtain" Miss Tummillo said.

If her nerves were evident at all it was only for a few moments in first act, listeners said They described her voice as richer and not quite as high as Miss Pons' canary-like tones

She became more and more sure of herself during the remainder of the first and second acts In the latter she wore a black velvet dress, which showed her slim figure to advantage She and her husband had had to "take it out of mothballs," in San Mateo, she said

During the sextette in the second act—the one that people attempt to sing in the bathtub—her clear full soprano soared at times over those of tenor Jan Pierce, baritone Francesco Valentino and the others Critics said it was hard to believe she had not rehearsed with them many times

The daughter of an Italian barber, Salvatore Tummillo, the soprano grew up in San Francisco's north beach section not far from famed Fisherman's wharf She made her debut in "The Barber of Seville" 12 years ago in her home town She sang with the Metropolitan in 1941 and 1942

Once before—on Dec 13, 1942 —she successfully replaced ailing Miss Pons in the same role at Chicago.

"That time, though" she said, "I had plenty of notice—I knew about it the night before"

UN TEST VOTE AWAITED TODAY

1st Round in Marshall's Fight To Overhaul Assembly Scheduled.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 18—The first test vote on Secretary of State George C. Marshall's proposal to overhaul United Nations machinery comes up today and the American delegation was confident of piling up an impressive majority.

The initial balloting lineup in the 57-nation political committee was expected on the question of establishing a drafting group to iron out differences between the U. S proposal and a series of amendments from countries supporting the plan generally.

Only Russia and her supporters have spoken against the plan for a year-around "little assembly" in debate this week and American sources based their optimism on general endorsement from a long list of delegations, including Britain, France and China

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A Gromyko made it plain yesterday that none of the softening and clarifying amendments would have any effect on Russia He called the plan illegal and contrary to the UN charter and said so far as the assembly scheme was concerned the Soviet Union does not have "the word compromise in its glossary"

Meanwhile, the assembly's special 57-national Palestine committee approached the end of general debate on the Holy Land issue.

The UN announced last night that in addition to the Greek case, Monday's assembly agenda would call for resumption of voting in the deadlock between the Soviet Ukraine and India over a security council seat. Delegates have taken nine fruitless ballots in efforts to pick a successor to Poland, whose term expires Dec 31.

ARMY PRISON TRAIN ROLLS TOWARD WEST

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 18—With a reinforced armed guard over approximately 150 "of the worst men the Army's got," a military prison train rolled across Utah toward California today following seven escapes in three states.

All but one of the prisoners who escaped in wild leaps from the speeding train have been recaptured, one critically wounded. Still hunted by Kansas police, is the seventh man, identified by Army authorities as James D. Anders, 21, of Jamestown, N. Y.

The train is carrying the handcuffed prisoners, many serving life terms and facing dishonorable discharges for such crimes as murder, rape or desertion, from Greenhaven, N. Y., to detention barracks at Camp Cooke, Calif.

At Camp Carson, Colo., where a successful, widespread search for one or two prisoners who escaped in the snow-covered Colorado Rockies was directed, Lt.-Col. H. F. Ames, public information officer, termed the prisoners "the worst the Army's got—willing to go to any extreme"

Ames said three German prisoners of war, sentenced to life imprisonment for crimes committed while in POW camps, were with the Americans on the train.

REPORT 300 BACK ON JOB AT GALION

Union Reaffirms Determination To Win Contract.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct 18—The North Electric company reported 300 employes back on the job today, the sixth since the plant was reopened in an attempt to break a two-month-old strike called by the UAW-CIO.

R K McBerty, a vice president, reported the number of returning workers has risen daily since the plant reopened Monday after obtaining an injunction against the union preventing interference with employes wishing to enter or leave the plant

Employes were permitted access to the plant as the union apparently made no attempt to violate the court order granted Oct. 10 in Crawford county common pleas court until yesterday.

A situation labelled by Galion police as "tense" ocurred when 18 pickets, six at a gate, impeded entrance to the plant by workers at 6:30 a. m. Pickets rotated in a close circle before the gates, partially obstructing the entrance.

In addition, an estimated 100 persons gathered in the streets adjacent to the plant. Union leader Edward Duck was warned by Mayor Amann and the police later in the day that the city would not tolerate "strangers" congregating near the plant. The group was said to comprise workers from Marion and Toledo. Duck disclaimed any authority over them.

A union mass meeting last night saw an estimated 180 union members vote to stay out until a contract including the Mt Gilead plant has been signed by the company.

French Fear All but 2 Aboard Downed Airliner Have Perished.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct 18—A French plane with 43 persons aboard plunged into the Mediterranean yesterday and it was feared only two survived

The Intercontinental Air Transport Company, operators of the plane, said it was informed in a message from the escort vessel Sabre that a mechanic and a passenger named Huyghe were rescued and five bodies were recovered. It said there was "little hope" of saving any of the missing

2 Babies Aboard

The passengers included eight children, two of them infants, 18 women and 14 men. the line's Paris office said. It said there were four crewmen and a hostess aboard.

The plane was bound from Marseille to Oran, Algeria. No trace of it has been found

Spanish naval authorities at Cartagena said distress signals were heard from the plane yesterday saying it was falling to the sea about 80 miles from the Spanish coast. They ordered a tug and a submarine to search the area

Flier Investigates

The French government assigned a pioneer trans-Atlantic flier, Maurice Bellonte, to conduct an investigation. Bellonte is inspector general of civil and commercial aviation.

The firm could give no explanation of a telegram it received yesterday from air transport control, saying that all persons aboard the plane had been rescued by a Spanish vessel in Cartagena bay, Spain, before the plane went down.

"SOFTENING" NOTED IN USED CAR MART

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 18—Dealer reports and independent surveys of the used car market indicate a price "softening" which results both from a natural seasonal decline and a rise in buyer resistance.

Some dealers in Detroit's Livernois avenue used car bazarrs already have concluded that the reduced sales volume has signalled the end of feverish trading that sent prices high above factory listings at the outset of the post-war era.

An independent survey by Automotive News, a trade publication, estimates that nationwide used car volume sales are down 40 per cent, but recent samplings by automobile manufacturers indicate a slump of not more than five per cent nationally.

Market Over Saturated

The latter surveys also noted that the used car market was over-saturated in California and the Washington, D. C., area, where buyer resistance has developed toward the more expensive vehicles.

Dealers point out that demand for autos is still as high as it was in the earlier postwar months, but people have become more price conscious.

In the Detroit area a price "softening" has been noticed in recent weeks, particularly in the "new" used cars, 1946 and 1947 models.

Although some dealers conclude that "golden" days have

PLAN 'KICKOFF' MONDAY NIGHT

Galion Minister To Speak; "Shares in Marion" Go On Sale Tuesday.

Workers in the annual community fund drive to raise $60,043 to finance the Marion Community Foundation activities through 1948, which got under way Tuesday, will hear an address by Rev. Philip Auer, of Galion, at the "kickoff" meeting Monday night. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A.

Rev. Auer, who is pastor of Peace Lutheran church at Galion, is widely known as a speaker and also for his activities in the Kiwanis club of which he is a former governor.

Workers will take up the job of giving Marion city and county residents an opportunity to own "Shares in Marion's Future," on Tuesday morning. The drive will end on Friday night, Oct. 31. While report meetings will be held from time to time, these will be in the school buildings in the various wards and there will be no general dinner sessions as in former years, leaders of the campaign announce.

Members from the speakers group will have a full program Sunday when they appear in Sunday school and church services in the interest of the forthcoming campaign Brief periods have been alloted to the speakers in 14 different meetings throughout the day and evening

Residents of the city and county were acquainted with the plans for this year's campaign through the work of volunteer speakers who have appeared before an estimated 1,000 persons in clubs and other groups and organizations during the last few weeks.

This year's campaign will be different from other years, in that it will be a house-to-house canvass, thereby making it possible for all members of the family to contribute and eliminating the possibility of anyone being missed who might want to own one or more shares in Marion's Future.

Foundation agencies participating in the campaign are the Salvation Army, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Y.M.C.A., Y-Teens (formerly Girl Reserves) and the Emergency Hospital Relief Service.

Certificates in "Shares in Marion's Future" are in $5 denomination and it is the hope of the workers that every person in the city and county will be a "shareholder."

Heads of Campaign

Ralph Carhart is general chairman for the campaign and assisting him as vice chairman is Paul Hunt. Heading the speakers bureau is Charlton Myers.

Speakers who have vountarily given their time to presenting the plans and needs for the campaign include the following:

Robert A. Axe, A. T. Allen, J. B. Bray, Dwight Carhart, E. L. Cleveland, president of the Community Foundation, L. B. Conkle, John Dowler, Thomas Fetter, Theodore Frericks, Cecil Gabler, William Goodwin, Dr. R. T. Gray, Harold Grigsby, Mrs. Merle Hamilton, Mrs. J. H. Harmon, Marion Hinklin, Don A Howard, Mrs. E. J. Critics Pan, People Cheer Miss Truman

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18—Margaret Truman, who wants some day to sing in grand opera, received a warm reception from the audience, but a chill one from the critics in her first full-length concert last night.

Criticism of the 23-year-old soprano's voice ranged from a succinct "childish" by Fred Lissfelt of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to the "likeable voice but its training is very faulty" offered by Ralph Lewando of the Pittsburgh Press.

But the audience of 4,000 applauded her 11 selections loudly and called her back for nine curtains

In Plain Words

BOSTON

THE CIO convention here—dull as it was, and it was mighty dull—can be taken pretty much as a symbol of the times.

For example: America is in a highly prosperous period now. Wages are high and so are prices.

A convention unions like this one—41 CIO unions met here—might have been expected to decide upon a campaign demanding higher wages all around.

James Marlow

The CIO didn't. If unions are going to ask for higher wages, that is left up to the individual unions. The CIO itself took no stand on that.

The old chestnut about merging with the American Federation of Labor—it's been bobbing up for years—got nowhere.

Both Groups Are Lusty

The CIO and AFL are both lusty—between them they have about 13,000,000 members, AFL claiming about 1,000,000 more than the CIO — and they don't need to merge.

If times were tough and labor unions felt that their backs were against the wall, they might think of getting together.

With the demand for workers very great, as now, the AFL and CIO can afford to go their separate ways.

Most solid thing which came out of the convention was perhaps this: the determination of the CIO to:

1. Fight the new Taft-Hartley labor law.

2. Work actively to try to unseat the present 80th congress which passed that law.

But all this doesn't mean that the work of the convention can be ignored. It sets its feet along a long road.

Some of the things considered at this CIO convention will be heard about for years to come.

Example Cited

Take the fair employment practices act, for instance. Such an act, which would in effect compel bosses to hire workers regardless of color or creed, has been knocked down in congress.

The CIO is on record as favoring it. In the years ahead the CIO and other labor groups can be expected to be working on congressmen to pass such a law.

So, you'll be hearing more about fair employment practices for years to come. There's no sign congress will pass such a law any time soon.

The same goes for another item: The CIO is going to work year after year for congress to pass some kind of national health insurance. (Some people call it socialized medicine, but the CIO doesn't.)

The CIO considered 36 resolutions in all. Very few of them could be expected to be achieved immediately.

Most of them are long-range goals with which labor, and particularly the CIO, will busy itself in the years ahead.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

WE evidently were not to know at once the identity of the "friends and relatives" Harry Underwood had asked us to meet "for cocktails."

We had known, of course, that the message was a camouflaged one, and I knew that Dicky and Lillian were all agog, as I was, over the mystery which the message from my father—I was convinced the "Chief" was behind it—was handing us for solution.

I was convinced of something else also, and was sure that Dicky shared my conviction. We knew the identity of the man whom my father had asked Harry and Lillian to shelter, because for some unknown reason it was impossible, for the present, to have him at the Greenwich Village hideaway. But it was not on the cards for us to whisper that conviction until the "Chief," himself should reveal the name of the fugitive, for it was virtually certain the man was that.

But when we had come into the Underwood living room, escorted from the hall by the master of the house himself, there was no one to be seen.

"Sit down, folks," Harry said. "I'd fix you up a quick one, Dicky-bird, but the orders are that no fingling of any sort is in order."

"You promised cocktails," Dicky reproached him, but I noticed that he was careful to keep his voice down, and Harry nodded his approval of that precaution.

"Simply camouflaged," our host answered. "Sit down and twiddle your thumbs—no more strenuous exercise advised, until the company comes."

He was virtually ageless, I told myself, as his black eyes twinkled at me from the lounge on which he had seated himself after seeing that we were in comfortable arm chairs. I had not seen him for several weeks, but except that his hair was getting more "grizzled" by the week, he was the same Harry Underwood, tall, massive of frame, handsome of face, debonair of manner, with apparent devilish insouciance masking one of the kindest hearts in the world.

Time—and Lillian—I reflected, had changed a devil-may-care-adventurer, with great possibilities for evil, some of which he had carried out, into this chivalrous Bayard whose whole life was wrapped around his wife, Lillian, and his idolized stepdaughter, Marion Morton, child of Lillian's ill-starred first marriage.

Another Question

"How is Mary?" he asked, and when I had told him of her improvement, he nodded, and put another question with an intonation which made me sit up and take notice.

"Katrina is taking care of her?" and at my assent, nodded again. "Good girl, Katrina," he commended. "Mary won't need anybody else, with her around."

Dicky shot a suspicious look at him.

"Look here, old fruit," he said, in the same muted voice we all were using. "What's cooking? If it's something to waft my spouse off the reservation, I warn you—"

Harry lazily raised a big, protesting hand. He rarely makes a hurried movement.

"Pipe down!" he warned. "Me, I know from nothing. There's only one person who can call your Madgie into action, and when he does, you can't do a thing about it."

Dicky's eyes caught mine and held them, and I saw the angry, but resigned, protest in them. I knew that he realized, as I did, the truth of Harry's words. If my father had some work for me to do connected with his secret government office, I would have no choice. I must do his bidding.

I thought with dismay of Faith, of Dicky, of my crippled mother-in-law in the hospital, of Mary and her "come-back," of her vehicle, my play, still only half written. How I could take any time off to help my father, I did not know.

And yet, through all my worry, I was guiltily conscious of the secret thrill which always comes to me when my father asks me to aid him.

Of one thing I was sure however, and knew that Dicky shared my conviction. Harry Underwood's protest of "knowing from nothing" was the sheerest nonsense. Whatever work or mystery lay before us, the big man was cognizant of it.

And then our eyes went to a door which led from the big living room to a small sitting room adjoining it, and from which had come the slight sound of a latch being lifted.

As the door swung slowly open, we all sprang to our feet, for framed in the opening was the familiar figure of my father, Charles Spencer, the "Chief," as his associates in the government international underground work affectionately call him.

Treasurer Reports On Tax Collection

Real estate tax collection amounting to 99 per cent of the 1946 total with which the Marion county treasurer's office was charged stands as the highest per cent of current taxes collected by any county of comparable size in the state, according to Marion Hinklin, county treasurer.

In a letter reporting the results of the 1946 collection of current and delinquent taxes to various city and county officials and organizations, Hinklin reported his office at the period when tax duplicates were returned was charged with $1,118,650 in current taxes and $36,846 in delinquent taxes.

Following the close of the 1947 collection period, the county treasurer's office showed collections of $1,107,159 and $16,740, representing 98.97 and 42 per cent respectively of the current 1946 and delinquent tax charges.

Mr. Hinklin pointed out that delinquent tax collection amounting to $16,740 leaves approximately $20,000 in unpaid taxes.

ARMY RESERVE OFFICE OPENS

Seek To Build Up Strength of Units in Marion County Area.

A sub-office of the unit instructor's office at Fort Hayes was opened today in rooms 6 and 7 in the Woolworth building at 1033 West Center street for the purpose of building up the personnel of Marion county's three reserve units. The office is being set up in keeping with the War Department Affiliation program and is in charge of members of the Marion Area Reserve Officers association.

The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday to Saturday noon of each week and will be in charge of an officer and an enlisted man, Col. Hubert L. Taylor said today. Col. Taylor will be in charge of the office starting today and continuing through the remainder of October. The officers and men in charge will be from Marion city and county.

There are more than 200 officers and enlisted reservists in Marion county and all veterans of World War II are eligible for membership in the enlisted Reserve Corps, the sponsors point out. The local reserve units are the 812th Composite group commanded by Col. Taylor, the Seventh Ohio Composite battalion in command of Lt. Col. Larry H. Larsen and Battey C. 324th Field Artillery commanded by Capt. Robert Wolbert. The first two units are made up of officers only and it is the aim of the sponsors to recruit Battery C to a Class B unit. Class B unit is made up of four officers and 16 enlisted reservists which comprise the cadre. Present requirements of the Class B unit include one artillery officer, mess sergeant, supply sergeant, motor sergeant, three section chiefs for the artillery section, cooks, auto mechanics, radio operators and mechanics for the artillery.

In keeping with the War Department affiliation program the local sub-station will contact various industries for the organization of certain key service type units, such as engineering, signal and other services.

Contribution Voted To Community Fund

A contribution of $10 was made to the Community Fund and $5 to the United Veterans and Civic Council by the Betsy Ross Auxiliary to Marion Camp No. 32, United Spanish War Veterans, at a meeting Friday afternoon in the American Legion Dugout. Mrs. Susie Wedertz, president, presided.

Devotions and prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Hattie Richards, opened the meeting and plans were made for several members to attend a district meeting Tuesday at Kenton. Inspection will be held at the next meeting, Nov. 21, followed by a dinner. The historian, Mrs. Mabel Poulin, read an article entitled "Spanish American War." A social hour followed with a contest award going to Mrs. Letty Howison.

A supper was held at 6:30 for members of the auxiliary and the camp with approximately 50 present. The evening was spent socially and cards were played.

Present as guests were Major L. H. Burnham and Sgt. Charles Boulware of the local U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting station. They gave short talks on the present policy of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Byrnes Reports on Veto Debate

instance, in the case of Hongkong. There is no question that we could not be required to give back Hongkong to the Chinese if we did not feel that was the right thing to do. On the other hand I feel it would be wrong if China did not have an opportunity to state its case fully. In the same way, if Egypt raises a question against the British affecting the Suez Canal, as has been suggested, I would submit to all the procedure outlined in this statement. I would do this without fear because British rights would be preserved under paragraph 3 when our veto would kill action if we chose to use it.

"I presume, Mr. President, if Argentina raises a question against the United States, that the United States will submit to all the procedure of the last five paragraphs and would not vote on the issue. However, the United States could raise its fundamental objections in respect to all the measures to be taken under paragraph 3. . . .

"His Majesty's Government see no danger from their point of view in associating themselves with the proposals of the United States. We see great advantage in the three great powers not assuming the position of rulers of all the rest of the world without even allowing them to state their case. It would not be right for us with the great power we possess to take that position, denying them the right to state their case, and to have measures taken to adjust difficulties short of the powers set out in paragraph 5, on which powers we rely if we are not convinced by our friends and colleagues on the Security Council."

The Marshal: "I would like to have this document to study because it is difficult on hearing it read to come to any conclusion. I think that the Dumbarton Oaks decisions have, as an objective, not only to secure to every nation the right to express its opinion, but if any nation should raise a question about some important matter, it raises the question in order to get a decision in the matter. I am sure none of those present would dispute the right of every member of the Assembly to express his opinion.

"Mr. Churchill thinks that China, if it raised the question of Hongkong, would be content only with expressing opinion here. He may be mistaken. China will demand a decision in the matter and so would Egypt. Egypt will not have much pleasure in expressing an opinion that the Suez Canal should be returned to Egypt, but would demand a decision on the matter. Therefore, the matter is much more serious than merely expressing an opinion. Also, I would like to ask Mr. Churchill to name the power which may intend to dominate the world. I am sure Great Britain does not want to dominate the world. So one is removed from suspicion. I am sure the United States does not wish to do so, so another is excluded from the powers having intentions to dominate the world."

Mr. Churchill: "May I answer?"

The Marshal: "In a minute. When will the great powers accept the provisions that would absolve them from the charge that they intend to dominate the world? I will study the document. At this time it is not very clear to me. I think it is a more serious question than the right of a power to express its intentions or the desire of some power to dominate the world."

Prime Miniser: "I know that under the leaders of the three powers as represented here we may feel safe. But these leaders may not live forever. In 10 years' time we may disappear. A new generation will come which did not experience the horrors of war and may probably forget what we have gone through. We would like to secure the peace for at least 50 years. We have now to build up such a status, such a plan, that we can put as many obstacles as possible to the coming generation quarreling among themselves."

The Marshal: "I think that the task is to secure our unity in the future, and, for this purpose, we must agree upon such a covenant as would best serve that purpose. The danger in the future is the possibility of conflicts among ourselves. If there be unity, then the danger from Germany will not be great. Now we have to think how we can create a situation where the three powers here represented and China—"

Prime Minister: "—and France."

The Marshal: "Yes, and we will keep a united front. I must apologize to the conference. I have been very busy with other matters and had no chance to study this question in detail.

"We are accused of attaching too great importance to the procedure 'how to vote.' We are guilty. We attach great importance to the question of voting. All questions are decided by votes and we are interested in the decisions and not in the discussions. Suppose China is a permanent member and demands Hong Kong be returned to her. I can assure Mr. Churchill that China will not be alone. They will have some friends in the Assembly. That would be true of Egypt in the case mentioned."

Prime Minister: "I could say 'no.' I would have a right to say that the powers of the World Security Organization could not be used against us if we remained unconvinced."

The Marshal: "There is another danger. My colleagues in Moscow cannot forget the case which occurred in 1939 during the Russian-Finnish war, when Britain and France used the League of Nations against us and eventually expelled us and isolated us."

The President: "It is entirely satisfactory for the Marshal to have sufficient time to study the proposal."

I was deeply disturbed by the clear evidence that Stalin had not considered or even read our proposal on voting in the security council even though it had been sent to him by diplomatic air pouch on Dec. 5. This was Feb. 6, and it occurred to me that if in those 60 days he had not familiarized himself with the subject, he could not be greatly interested in the United Nations organization. It was all the more impressive since this certainly was the only proposal on the agenda with which he was not entirely familiar. My concern remained even though at the next day's meeting Mr. Molotov announced the Soviet Union's acceptance of our proposal, which was later adopted in substantially the same form at San Francisco.

At the Yalta Conference, in February, 1945, Marshal Stalin secured agreement from President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill on his claim to separate votes in the United Nations for Byelorussia and the Ukraine. This fact became public only some months later when it was reported for the first time by the New York Herald Tribune. In Monday's installment of "Speaking Frankly," Mr. Byrnes reveals for the first time the full story of how President Roosevelt asked in return for extra votes for the United States.

Another secret agreement reached at the Yalta Conference, in February, 1945, provided that substantial rights in the Far East, including the Kurile Islands, should be turned over to the Soviet Union in return for Russian participation in the war against Japan. Even Mr. Byrnes, who was not then Secretary of State but was one of President Roosevelt's closest advisers, did not know of this agreement until later. But the circumstances surrounding the agreement are described by him in detail in Monday's installment in which he also explains how he managed to survive the ordeal of Soviet banquets at Yalta, and describes Marshal Stalin, at his official dinner for the Allied delegates, as "a very likable person."

3—An honest attempt to find a solution to Marion's grade crossing problem and to work this program out with the railroads.

4—To work toward the transfer of control of the Marion City Hospital to a Board of Trustees without any political consideration or control to impair and disrupt its operation.

W.C.T.U. Steps Up Drive To Revive Prohibition

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18 — The 74th annual convention of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union — scheduled in Cleveland Oct. 20 to 24—seems a cinch to approve two things:

►Revival of the Prohibition party to a place for its presidential candidate on the Ohio ballot, and

►A state-wide campaign to obtain a county option law through referendum.

One of the convention's chief speakers will be Dr. Claude E. Watson of Los Angeles, the Prohibition party's candidate for president. Dr. Watson's party was ruled off Ohio ballots last general election for lack of sufficient signatures.

Close to the hearts of Ohio dry leaders is the passage by the legislature of a county option bill, which would mean increasing opportunities to dry up Ohio areas not now possible.

Miss Mary B. Ervin of Columbus, Ohio W.C.T.U. president, is certain to press for organization approval of an attempt to obtain that law by referendum. The legislative attempt failed last spring.

The guessing box went to Miss Sarah Bell, and contest prizes were won by Mrs. Virginia Sorreles and Mrs. Nelle Metzger. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Sorreles at Green Camp.

The Eisenhower Phenomenon

WHAT GEN. EISENHOWER says about the move to boost him as a presidential possibility is less important than the things people are saying about Dwight D. Eisenhower. He is a candidate for the presidency in the sense that every outstanding citizen must be regarded as a candidate; if the job were laid in his lap he'd do his best.

Presidential politics is many different things coming together to give the people an executive and a system of government. One of the things is the confidence that leaders command in people. That's why Eisenhower is being talked about. He doesn't know beans about organization politics, but like all successful military leaders he is the beneficiary of popular confidence.

We aren't plugging anyone's presidential candidacy, nor are we trying to discourage anyone's candidacy. The more the merrier—and the better. The United States can't have too many potentialities to choose from. As they write on new typewriters: This is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party — both parties.

Gen Eisenhower's possibilities as a candidate for the presidency are being talked about by Americans of all political persuasions. It is no disrespect for President Truman to say that if the Democrats didn't have a candidate already they'd be just as interested in Eisenhower as any of the Republicans. The reason for this is obvious. The general could poll votes. He is a non-controversial figure. He has numerous friends, hosts of admirers—almost no enemies. He could command confidence among the people.

None of the other men available for the presidential nomination in either party can match his popular appeal. All of them in one way and another have distinguished themselves in other ways that might have much heavier bearing on their ability to be president, but they have not captured the public's imagination. Gen. MacArthur is the only other military man who might be able to match Eisenhower, if he were the latter's equal in personality and age.

Gen. Eisenhower repudiates all activity in his behalf. This is proper as long as he continues to be chief of staff, but it will have no effect on popular interest in the possibility that he might later enter the 1948 race. His countrymen are bringing their political awareness to a focus as the next presidential election approaches. Eisenhower is inevitably one of the Americans being considered. He couldn't be otherwise, in view of his record in World War II and the unfailing tendency of people to place confidence in their successful military leaders.

The Rye Is Comin' Through

DESPITE the world need for wheat, Canada has 10 per cent fewer acres planted in wheat this year than in 1940, but 40 percent more acres in rye. The shift will be even more pronounced next year. Reason: All wheat must be sold to the government at $1.35 a bushel while rye goes on the open market.

For the next four years Canada is committed to send virtually all its export wheat to Britain but at the present rate of decline production will be substantially lower in four years. There is nothing that can be done about this as long as the price is pegged.

With $3 wheat in Chicago, Canadian farmers can hardly be blamed for planting their acres in rye. Price regulation always brings unforeseen factors into play, as our own experiences with OPA attest.

"Games's" Won't Be the Word

NOT MUCH has been heard in recent weeks about the 1948 Olympic games, giving rise to the hope that they may be called off before it's too late. With nations snapping and snarling like a pack of fretful coyotes, the games would be just the thing to set the cause of peace back 50 years.

Recently a Moscow paper had this to say of a football game between Turks and Greeks in which several Greeks were injured: "Commentary is not needed. It is only necessary to add that the beastlike chauvinism which is being kindled in Turkey as in Greece is unavoidable in exhibiting itself in this event of football."

Imagine the outburst in the Russian press if a Russian Olympic boxer kissed the canvas in the first round, or if the anchor man on the Novosibirsk workers' relay team were jostled in tight quarters on the turn. Such incidents would make the strained moments of the Berlin games in 1936 seem mild by comparison, because when higher dudgeons are built these days Russian writers build 'em.

Did You Know

Clove trees begin to blossom when they are five to seven years old and continue bearing for 100 years or more.

The Greeks and Romans often levied tributes in terms of pepper, then valued highly as a staple article of trade.

The Northwest Territories of Canada, containing 1,309,000 square miles, have a population of only 15,000 people.

The Victory, Nelson's flagship, was rated at only 1,000 tons yet carried nearly 1,000 men.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Luckman Seems To Be the "Fall Guy."

WHEN Charles Luckman met with eight members of the United States senate to discuss his program, he told them that he was handed this program, that it was discussed with him in Boston before he came to Washington.

For reasons, not understandable to me, not one of these polite senators asked him who handed him the program, who discussed it with him in Boston. Are we back to the days when an anonymous group of serious thinkers sit about cocktails in Alexandria and scheme great designs which they hand to somebody? Certainly, the American people have assumed that the food program was worked out by the citizens committee, that it is a voluntary program of the American people, and that the manager of Great Britain's greatest enterprise in the United States was selected for this job because he could prepare a program and carry it through.

It would be interesting to require Mr. Luckman to explain why the department of agriculture, which has an appropriation of more than a billion a year, to advise the American people and the government on food, has not been consulted. Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson is one of the most competent men in the government. He certainly knows more about chickens and eggs than Luckman, whose speciality is soap, does.

Why was Anderson not put in charge of this program as he was in 1946 when he successfully carried through a major world operation with the assistance of Herbert Hoover? Since when has Abe Fortas, for instance, become a food authority superior to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson? The story goes that Anderson was bypassed because he would not agree to the impossible and that he considered the welfare of the American farmer as more important than the curbstone commitments of Secretary Marshall.

But there is another point to all this: The principal requirements of hungry people are fats and breadstuffs. Fats, whether animal or vegetable, are a psysiological necessity. Any food expert approaches a feeding problem with fats first in mind. You will recall how all through the war every citizen was requested to save fats and how the butchers cooperated in this campaign. Fats were as important then as guns. If you recall the ballyhoo.

Well, here is Mr. Luckman, soap manufacturer, who ought to know something about fats, saying nothing about saving fats. He wants to reduce the consumption of poultry and eggs—why, the Lord only knows—but not a word is said about reducing the consumption of fats. In fact he would feed our cattle less grain so that they would have less fat. If this is a genuine feeding program, fats must come first. If nothing is said or done about fats, except to reduce them on the hoof, there is something very phony about the program. Why cut the distillers and the brewers and not the soap companies? Will someone explain that? Maybe a congressional committee might look into that, but not a committee, whether Republican or Democratic, which is committed to the New Deal concept of controls.

Apparently On A "Ride"

The more I ponder Mr. Luckman's setup, the more it looks as though that brilliant young man is being taken for a ride by some extremely clever New Dealers. It looks as though his citizens committee has been set up in such a manner as to prove that voluntary action must fail. In fact, the negotiations with the distillers and brewers show little evidence of anything voluntary. After Luckman has failed to produce quantities of grain beyond our capacity, the left-wingers, who have been itching to get back into the saddle, will start a violent campaign for a revival of the controls of the OPA. Every action of government since V-J day has inflated prices and Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach has been delivering inflationary speeches during the past fortnight. It looks as though someone is setting the stage for the "emergency" control combination that operated so incompetently and with so much trouble during the war and immediately after it. The preparations seem to be a little too obvious—with Charles Luckman as the fall guy.

Just a Minute

The Noisiest Little City in the World?

A nationwide survey reveals that Reno is the noisiest city in the country.

At present, that is. Washington will be again once congress reconvenes.

Reno's noise is not only the loudest in the nation but also among the most diversified, what with so many slot machines going whir-r-r-r and marriages going ph-f-f-ft.

Judges have a habit of pounding their gavels after issuing a divorce decree. This makes Reno sound like rush hour in a barrel factory.

Memphis, on the other hand, is the quietest city in the nation, a citizen given to loud neckties having to obtain special permission to remove his vest.

It definitely is not true, however, that murder is considered a felony in Memphis only when one neglects to use a silencer on his gun.

But getting back to Reno, which Tommy Manville has a habit of doing, consider how much worse the din would be if more of the actions were contested.

Today's Fashion Note

By Frank Tripp

IT'S A cinch to snip a few inches off the bottom of a pair of pants. You can even do it to that old pair with the frayed cuffs. But stretching women's skirts to the ground won't be so easy.

What is saved in cloth around the old man's ankles will more than be spent to hide his wife's main attraction. No skirt has a hem that will let down as far as skirts are supposed to go.

The woman who falls for the extravagant outrage that has been imposed upon her will need to have a host of boy-friends if what comes off the bottom of their pants is to cover the eyeful which is hence forth supposed to be concealed—dammit!

It is about the most discouraging dictum that Dame Fashion has foisted upon us in many a day.

Just when the fickle old dame was at the height of her popularity with the male sex, for the scenery she caused to be unveiled, she not only calls for the curtain to drop, but she decrees an exposure of masculinity which promises to approach the ridiculous.

Can you imagine the type of mind that proposes to swap a look at what we've been seeing for the lousiest part of man's anatomy—his hocks?

There may be a man's ankle somewhere that some poor, frustrated old gal would give a second glance but I've never seen it.

Of all the awful parts of a man, that's it. Why, their legs have positively prevented runners-up from making the Court of St. James. If there's anything funnier than run-of-mine-man in knee breeches, Walt Disney never discovered it.

But there'll be nothing funny about what happens to a woman's wardrobe. If her sex falls for the street-sweepers her stock of wearing apparel will be about as useful as hoop skirts and bustles.

There's nothing she can do about it. Can't you just hear her already?

"I'll not set foot outside this house. Every dud I own has antiquity stamped all over it I'll look naked! Naked, I tell you — with skirts half up to my knees."

And the poor girl is about right, unless women rebel.

This effusion is frank effort to promote said rebellion.

What a swell sight men are going to be. Sprawling flat feet in thick-soled calf-skins: puffed ankles hanging over the edges under a pair of baggy pant legs waving in the wind — exposing the sucker to the pneumonia he deserves.

Or a pair of bony shanks with carbuncle protrusions on either side, emerging into open space at shoetop and extending, with slight visible connection, to a hairy leg, draped by the folds of a sock so empty that there's nothing for a garter to grab to.

Don't wives know enough about their husbands' weird extremities without proclaiming to the world what a demon they've got?

A man, no matter how obese or scrawny, today can conceal all. He can strut proudly forth with friend wife's symmetrical underpinnings alongside—and keep the respect of the neighbors.

But, brother, when he strolls out with the best that his wife has, hid under the draperies of a curb-swishing skirt; and the worst that he has, exposed to mankind beneath the bottom of a pair of Mortimer Snerd pants, there's going to be a laugh at every corner, a riot in every house—and murder; if the bird can be found who brought it about.

World peace, me eye! In the interest of domestic peace and Scenic America, let's keep the skirts up and the pants down.

Nuts to Chocolate! Says the Squirrel

CHILD'S MEADOWS (Mt. Lassen) Calif.—Every day C. W. Wilson put salted peanuts into the fork of a tree for a friendly squirrel. When his supply ran out, he tried some chocolate covered peanuts.

The squirrel grabbed eagerly—then his head jerked up, he spat vigorously, kicked the remaining chocolate tidbits out of the tree and sped away, scolding terrifically.

Dispensing With The Indispensable

Labor's Crusade

By Raymond Moley

IN the hotel where this reporter has eaten and slept for some years, the AFL unions have recently assessed, required, extracted, or what have you, a sum of money to fight the Taft-Hartley Act and its supporters. Waiters pay $10 a head; bus-boys and other small fry, $5.

If this practice prevails in all the AFL and CIO unions, the amount collected for political action will reach monumental proportions. Taking the minimum membership figures claimed by the unions the attainable war-chest will be $50,000,000-$100,000,000 Considering the number of members of the senate and house involved, this means a bounty on political heads of more than $100,000, apiece. All these figures, except the assessment, are very low approximations. But they will convey what this week's declaration of war by the CIO-AFL will mean in political affairs in 1948.

Campaign Time

Or take the aims of the rival labor organizations as a measure. The CIO through its political action commitee, will work to bring 60,000,000 voters to the polls in 1948—about 20 per cent more than voted in 1944. William Green talks of massing 25,000,000-30,000,000 votes against Taft-Hartley congressmen and senators.

The beating the CIO took in the Eighth Pennsylvania district this summer is now in labor circles sugared over with wishful interpretations. It was a small vote, they say — a conclusion hardly justified by the statistics.

The money the CIO-AFL hope to throw into politics stands in threatening contrast to the amount normally spent in congressional elections.

No reliable figures exist, but a single incident may throw light on the funds available in normal congressional elections. In 1945, the writer was asked to suggest a means by which prospective contributors might give some money to Democratic congressmen for election expenses. Those contributors were Democrats, but they did not want to support the presidential ticket. A prominent Democratic congressman who, incidentally, was later elected speaker, was asked how this could be done. He answered that the Democratic house committee was sadly in need of funds for members' campaigns. The Democratic national committee, he said, had assigned only $15,000 for house campaigns. When asked what an average member would regard as a big contribution, he answered, "Most of these fellows would be glad to have two or three hundred dollars for their whole campaign expenses.

Formidable Opposition

This was an understatement as far as the larger districts are concerned, but it suggests that over the years the average congressmen's war-chest has been pitifully small. It is against these slenderly supported members that the huge force of the CIO-AFL is to be thrown.

The hopes of the prospective victims, however, are sustained by the remarkable figures of the by-elections. A recent primary in the Fourth Ohio district shows a heavy Republican drift. Until 1938 this district leaned toward the Democratic party. It is on the western side of Ohio, about 100 miles south of the Michigan line. It is a rich farming region, with only one sizeable city—Lima. But for some reason, it has strong Democratic traditions. Its representative, Robert F. Jones, a Republican was appointed to the FCC and resigned. In the recent primary, an unusually heavy vote came out. The Democratic nomination was hotly contested. The winning Republican, W. M. McCulloch, received 10,120 votes—more than all other candidates. The two Democrats received 5,802.

Needless to say, the informed opinion in the district is that labor will raise no Taft-Hartley issue there this fall. Observers interpreted the result as a pro-Taft-Hartley and anti-Truman food-program vote.

There have been occasions in American politics when large money has been a handicap. Perhaps the Green-Murray crusade will merely consolidate opposition to labor supremacy.

One God and One Mediator

A Sermonette

By REV. R. W. FAULKNER

Pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church

"Text: "For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus." I Tim. 2:5.

THERE is one God," to whom sinners have to be reconciled, "and one Mediator" through whom the reconciliation is to be effected. The unity of God and the mediation of Christ are the two great topics of the text to which I invite your prayerful consideration.

I. "There is one God." There is one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all." In Him alone all things live, move and have their being. This doctrine is impressed upon the Bible. It is not only the book of God, but evidently the book of "one God." Its several parts are perfectly harmonious, proving them to have emanated from the same infinite mind. Everywhere we find the same Character of God and of man; the same description of law and of sin; the same way of Pardon, and holiness, and immortal life. The same Eternal Spirit that inspired the historian to record the creation account in Genesis speaks in the Apocalypse of St. John, and in all the intervenient books of the Bible.

"The world by wisdom knew not God." The heathen lose the doctrine of the Unity of God because they do not love the character of God. They boast of their wisdom, their philosophy of life, their insights, their beliefs, their thoughts, their man made codes and printed records, which they contend are far superior to God's.

II. This leads us to our second topic: "And one Mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus." The two doctrines are intimately related to each other. "One God"—"One Mediator." As we have but one God, we need but "One Mediator."

Man is at variance with God. God gave man a law, "holy and just and good;" man revolted, and "there is wrath." Reconciliation is impossible without the intervention of a mediator.

Behold God with infinite perfection, clothed with uncreated excellence and glory, self-existent, independent and eternal, Omnipresence, Omniscience, and Almighty. He is great in wisdom, full of goodness, slow to anger, and ready to pardon. His love is ineffable, and "His mercy endureth forever." Note His majesty. "at His wrath the earth shall tremble, and the nations shall not be able to abide His indignation." Oh, what majesty and power belongs unto the Lord our God!

Contrast the impotence and insignificance of sinful man with God! Man is a frail, helpless, perishing thing; dependent upon God, the Creator for all his comforts, for life itself. Man's understanding is dark; his will perverse; his affections carnal. "The poison of asps is under his tongue"; "his heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked." He is an enemy to his Maker; a rebel against God;—a blot and a smear on God's creation.

Reason says concerning man—"Let him alone!"

Justice says "Wipe him off the face of the earth!"

Holiness says "I hate the workers of iniquity!"

Truth says "He or I must perish."

Mercy says, "Spare him! Spare him!"

"Wisdom of God" came forth leading the Son of God saying, "I have found a ransom! Behold the Mediator! "And Reason, Justice, Holiness, Truth, Mercy and Wisdom, met and embraced at the manger, and kissed each other at the cross.

Man in himself had neither the inclination nor the means to be reconciled to God. God through His own Son has provided the only way of reconciliation. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him, should not perish but have everlasting life."

III. The Mediatorial office of Christ consists of two parts, sacrifice and intercession.

1. He gave His life sacrificially upon the cross as a ransom for all. "He was wounded for our transgressions, and bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him, and with His stripes we are healed." Through the sacrifice of the "Lamb of God," heaven and earth are reconciled.

2. Intercession. It is through "Christ Jesus" that God speaks to the world and receives the prayers of His people. Having "borne the sins of many," "He maketh intercession for the transgressors." "He hath entered into heaven Himself there to appear in the presence of God for us." "If any man sin we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous."

"One Mediator." There is no choice. You must accept Him, or remain unreconciled, and be cast into hell. It is only by faith in "One Mediator" that you can obtain the favor of the "One God." Neither is there Salvation in any other." Sinner friend believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, turn from sin and be reconciled to God.

NO TIME FOR GOD?

No Time for God?

What fools we are, to clutter up
Our lives with common things,
And leave without heart's gate
The Lord of life and life itself—
Our God.
NO TIME FOR GOD?
You mighth's well say, No time
To eat or sleep or love or die.
Take time for God,
Or you shall dwarf your soul.
And when the angel death
Comes knocking at your door,
A poor mishapen thing you'll be
To step into eternity.

Instructions Given Home Owners for Emergency Repair of Roof Leaks

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

When leaks appear through a roof, it is not always possible to have them attended to as promptly as we would like; and finding the actual source of the leak is sometimes rather a long operation. Due to the construction of the average building, it is possible for a leak to become noticeable eight or ten feet away from the actual hole or failure in the roof covering. This is caused by the fact that the water may run along a beam or above a ceiling, until it finds a weak spot through which it can drip.

When water starts to show through a ceiling, the first thing to do is to bore a small hole in the center of the wet spot. This will prevent building-up, which may soak a large portion of the ceiling. It also makes sure that the water will have a point of escape direct into the pails or pans provided to receive it.

The actual cause of the leak may be from a split shingle, a torn composition covering, or from a defective valley or gutter. A split shingle may be repaired for an indefinite length of time by cutting a piece of tin, and shoving it up beneath the shingle. A piece of heavy tar-paper will also make a good temporary repair if metal is not at hand.

Leaks in valley flashings are common, because the valley is usually masked against wind and sun and cannot dry out, and because they are a favorite resting place for leaves and twigs. Valley leaks can be repaired by banding pieces of tin or paper from corner to corner and shoving them under the shingles adjacent to the valleys. This is done so as to present a series of scales with the points showing down as illustrated.

Every household should have on hand a can of roof-cement. This black mastic material has the properties of being adhesive, non-drying, and waterproof. When a chimney flashing rusts through, a gutter cracks or a down-spout splits from any cause, this roof cement will make a quick and lasting temporary repair. It is likewise very effective for repairs in masonry, and the color can be made to match the surrounding surface by painting, after the cement has developed a skin.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Gas Pressure—Full or Low?

Q. I have a reconversion gas unit in my furnace, hot air, gravity. Would it be more economical to use full gas pressure or low, when heating my home? When using full pressure my pilot goes out, so I have been using very low pressure. I understand that a low flame saves gas when cooking; how about it when heating?

A. When cooking, the gas flame should not extend beyond the edge of the pot, but in a furnace a burner with a larger flame will give more heat and warm the house sooner. The contractor who installed the burner should advise you on the size and type of flame necessary in your particular furnace. If the pilot light goes out when the burner is operating at full pressure, there is something wrong and you should have it corrected by the service man or the gas company.

Sticking Dresser Drawer

Q. What kind of wax should be used on a dresser drawer to prevent it from sticking and making it slide more easily?

A. Rub the slides and other parts of contact with melted paraffine.

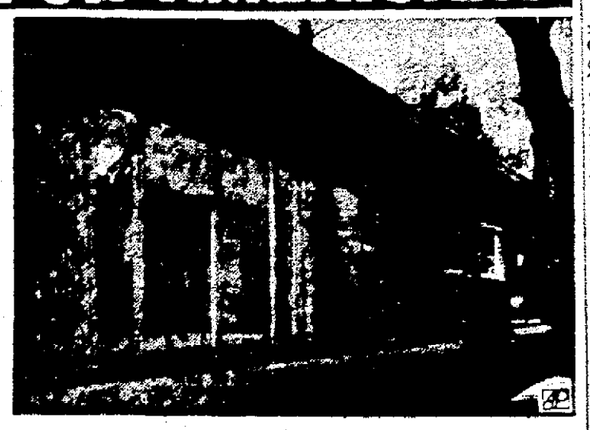
Radiators Always Warm

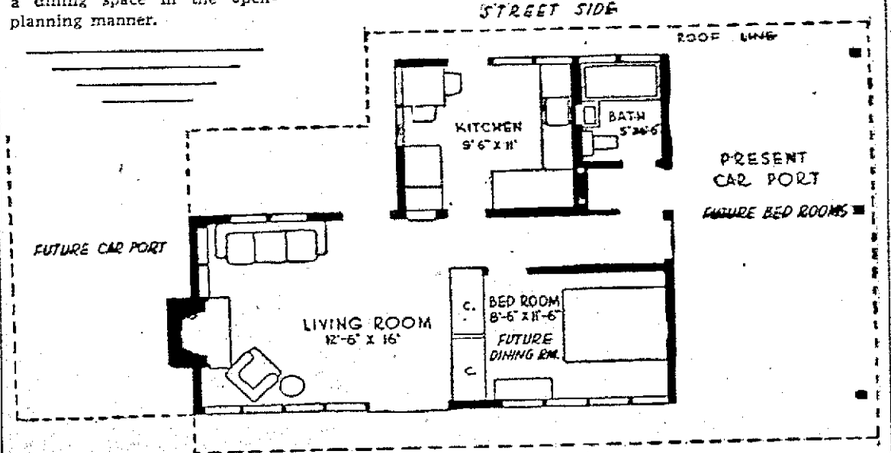
Q. We have hot-water heat in our two-flat building. Some of the radiators remain warm at all times, even when the heat is turned off. What can be done?

A. Evidently some of your radiators are equipped with the type of valves made for hot-water radiators. Such valves are made with a small orifice, permitting a slow flow of hot water through the radiators when valve is turned off. The purpose of this is to prevent the water in the radiator from freezing and causing damage. A hot-water radiator should never be shut-off completely during the winter season.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



"AN APARTMENT IN THE COUNTRY" is the answer of Carlton Steiner, San Francisco architect, to handicaps of high building costs. Designed in such a way that it can be readily expanded into a five-room house, the dwelling presents advanced ideas in layout. Kitchen and bath are placed on the street front giving living room and future dining room wide windows opening on the garden terrace. Removal of the closets between living room and bedroom creates a dining space in the open-planning manner.



SAN FRANCISCO — Here's "an apartment in the country," selling in California for $6,500, which the buyer can expand into a full-sized house.

Builder Henry Arian and Architect Carlton Steiner of San Francisco have put up two of these experimental homes across the Golden Gate at Sausalito. They say they could sell 50 of them if they had them built, and hope to go into large scale production.

Their expandable house is delivered as a small house, just large enough—650 sq. feet—for a couple to get by in. With kitchen and bath alongside, there is a living unit 30 feet long that is partitioned into living and bed rooms by a movable closet assembly.

At one end, however, a car port is provided which later can be converted into two bedrooms by the owner for an estimated $500 if he does his own carpentry.

This car port comes floored with concrete, the wall foundations are in, the roof extended over it, and wiring installed so that almost anyone can finish the job.

If he does, his former bedroom becomes a dining room, or he can use the entire original living unit as a combined living-dining room which is 30 feet long and provides an effect of great spaciousness.

With his former car port now converted into bedrooms, the owner can build a new one at the other end of the house.

The really ambitious owner can put up a fence around his lot and lay his own patio pavement, a square at a time in his spare hours.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N BUNDESEN, M.D.

Thyroid Gland

Goiter simply means enlargement of the thyroid gland, but, since there are many different causes for this enlargement, the name covers a number of conditions, some of them much less serious than others.

Perhaps the one which causes the greatest concern is the toxic goiter or hyperthyroidism. If not properly treated, it may lead to severe damage to the tissues.

In this disorder, there is loss of weight and strength, rapid heart beat, sweating, sometimes diarrhea, and usually irritability and nervousness. The eyeballs may protrude, and the thyroid gland may or may not appear enlarged.

The exact cause of toxic goiter is not known. As a rule, it is not a difficult condition to diagnose. The symptoms are quite characteristic.

A test known as the basal metabolism test, which measures the speed with which the activities of the body go on, is helpful in making the diagnosis. In toxic goiter, the basal metabolism rate is increased.

By and large, the most successful treatment of toxic goiter is operative removal of the thyroid gland tissues. However, many milder cases may be relieved with complete rest and the giving of iodine in the proper doses.

A new drug known as thiouracil has been used which also brings about temporary improvement. It is often used with benefit for several weeks prior to operation, as such use reduces the hazards of such operation.

Recently also what is known as radioactive iodine has been used in treating toxic goiter, apparently with success in some cases.

Once it has been decided that operation is necessary to relieve the disorder, the patient must be properly prepared. This is done by the giving of iodine, rest, the use of quieting drugs for the nervous system, and the employment of a well-balanced diet, particularly rich in starches and sugars, and in protein foods such as meat, milk and eggs. This treatment is continued until the patient begins to gain weight and the basal metabolism rate seems to be dropping.

As I mentioned, in patients who have had the disease a long time or who are more severely ill from it, thiouracil may be used in addition.

In carrying out the operation, an attempt is made to remove all the thyroid gland tissues. Usually enough is left behind, even though such attempts are made, to supply all of the gland secretion necessary to keep the tissues normal. If not, thyroid extract may be administered in proper doses.

American Diary

By Hal Boyle

IN A DUCK BLIND

THE quack-quacks are flying by, higher than the dust of dawn.

Here I am below muck-speed to my knees, stand, gun a wooden board in a swamp and waiting for a crazy duck to come down here and get himself shot.

So far none of them has been crazy. They fly so high they must be equipped with pressure cabins.

"You should have been here yesterday," says the man on the other end of the board. "Boy, oh boy, you could knock them over with baseball bats."

Hal Boyle

This is what I get for making the mistake last night of admitting I had never been duck hunting. Somebody routed me out of bed at 4:30 a.m., and here I am shivering in the primeval ooze—the ooze the biology books say my ancestors sprang from. Well, I wish they'd sprang about two miles farther toward town.

"Lurking," He says

We are lurking—did you ever try lurking for two hours in a bent position?—in swamp grass trying as much as possible to look like a grain of wild rice. We are on the edge of a big lake. In the center of the lake all the ducks between Canada and Louisiana are holding a convention.

"Quack! quack! quack! quack! quack!" Now they've got me talking that way.

From here you couldn't hit them with a coastal battery.

"You should've been here yesterday," says the fisherman at the aft end of our board. "Boy, oh boy. We could've caught them in a butterfly net—they were so low."

Every few minutes a flock takes off or comes in for a landing over the heads of hunters in blinds on the other side of the lake.

"Bang! Bang! Bang!" goes the shotgun chorus, and the ducks fall so thick you'd need an umbrella to keep them off. But over our blind they fly so high you couldn't bring them down with radar and a 90-mm. hi-speed ack-ack gun.

They go twinkling south in lines of fluid rhythm black against a golden morning sky—so many a Geiger counter would click itself to pieces trying to keep their tally.

Sun Thaws Boyle Out

The rising sun begins to thaw us downward from our cramped knees. The long parade of mallards, bluebills, pintails and blue-winged teal thins out. The hunters across the lake, their limit bagged, sheath hot shotguns and head for home.

We still stand, half bent on our board, hoping at least one duck above us will drop dead of heart failure and give us a shot on the way down.

"Boy, oh boy," says the anchorman on the board, "you shouldn't been here yesterday. You could've clubbed them to death with a mallet."

But you tomorrow they'll be so low you could sprinkle salt on their tail. Boy, oh boy! But I won't be here. I'm tired of looking like a grain of wild rice. I feel a grain of common sense coming on.

I'm going home to where the ducks sail by on plates, stuffed and steaming, and you can knock them over with a knife and fork!

BREAD PRICES START CLIMB

Increases Expected To Lend Weight to Truman Save-Slice Drive.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 — The prospect of widespread increases in the price of bread may stimulate greater participation by eastern housewives in President Truman's "save a slice of bread a day" campaign.

On the heels of the baking industry's promise to promote sales of small loaves of bread, open faced pies and two-layer-only cakes, bakers in New York and Baltimore scheduled a one cent a loaf price increase on bread starting Monday.

Sees Further Boosts

And one official of the American Bakers association told a reporter that he "would not be surprised' if bakers in other cities have to boost prices "in view of wheat at $3.05 a bushel."

President C. P. Binner of the Bakers association told the Luckman committee earlier that bakers have been employing strict grain-saving measures for many months to offset rising costs of raw materials. Bread prices have gone up less than "any other major food," he said.

But at Luckman's urging the bakers yesterday adopted a program which they said would save 3,000,000 bushels of wheat monthly if adopted by housewives and restaurant eaters as well.

4 Agreements

It includes an agreement to (1) feature smaller loaves, wherever bakers are equipped to make them; (2) eliminate "consignment selling," under which some baking companies supply more bread than grocers can sell on the understanding that stale loaves will be taken back; (3) stop making bread and cake items for which there is small sale; and (4) to use substitutes for the flour which is "dusted" on breadstuffs and pastries.

The industry agreed also to study Luckman's proposal for a half-sized loaf of bread. Adoption of this proposal is not feasible at the moment, Luckman said, because it will require a "time-consuming retooling" of the industry with news pans and wrapping equipment.

Railroad Brotherhood Fires Two Trustees

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18 — The executive board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has fired two members of the BRT's three-man board of trustees, claiming they "blocked" the union's public relations program.

Ousted were P. J. Baumberger, of Miami, Fla., secretary of the board, and D. C. Bassett of Mobile, Ala. Neither could be reached for comment.

In a statement late yesterday the board said the two were removed from office "for interfering and obstructing efforts of the president of the Brotherhood (A. F. Whitney) in the matter of public relations and with the efforts of the president to cooperate with bona fide labor organizations and other organizations on matters of mutual interest."

YOUTH'S LICENSE REVOKED

A 16-year-old Vernon Junior High school boy had his drivers license revoked for one year by Judge Edward J. Ruzzo in juvenile court this morning. The boy was cited for operating a motorbike in a reckless and unlawful manner. He was picked up by police at 1:30 p. m. yesterday at the school, spent the night in the detention home.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 18—Automobile headlights and the assistance of another plane which went up to guide him brought a Newcastle, Pa., pilot safely into the Mansfield Municipal airport last night after he had become lost during a rainstorm on a flight from Indianapolis.

USED CAR

passed along Livernois avenue, they don't believe the bottom of the market will drop out, and some of them don't even anticipate a severe drop now.

They estimate that business is down 8 to 10 per cent around Detroit and this readjustment" hasn't yet reached used cars of 1941-42 vintage, which eventually will be hit.

The main slump now, they say, is in the "soft top" classification—convertible, station wagon and other warm weather models — a natural phenomenon with cold weather on the way.

Sag Is Expected

They also point out that the used car market always sags from October to February, so some price declines are following a natural sequence.

Typical of a price letdown along Livernois today was a new "used" Buick that a month ago would sell for $3,300. Now it would fetch $2,650.

Marty Barrar, proprietor of a Livernois car lot, summed it up this way:

"I don't believe we are in a crash market, but the bloom is off the peach. The business of transportation is too sound a thing to go bust.

"We try to buy an occasional car cheaper. We offer the owner $300 less than we used to, but we never get it for that. This week cars are low. We intend to operate on the market, buying and selling at the going rate."

PRESS ACTION ON GAS FUNDS

Anti-Diversion Amendment on Fuel Tax Discussed at Meeting Here.

A meeting of business, municipal, county and township officials was held Thursday in the Navy club room for the purpose of coordinating a countywide campaign for the passage of the gasoline tax anti-diversion amendment, which will be voted on at the Nov. 4 election.

Walter Johnson, county engineer, explained the history of the gasoline tax, which was originally enacted in 1925 to take the burden from real estate and place road and street maintenance on "those who use them". In 1931 the legislature granted counties the right to use their share of the auto license revenue for general purposes. In 1932 they were granted all or any part of motorist taxes for poor relief. In 1933 the legislature reduced the gasoline tax from four to three cents, and then enacted what was called the "One Cent Liquid Fuel Tax" to help schools financially. In 1939, after a surplus had been built up in the school foundation system, and though promises had been made to return this revenue to roads as requested by various groups, the legislature saw fit to place this income into the state general fund. Mr. Johnson pointed out that now the general fund is in good condition while roads and streets have slowly deteriorated, with construction and maintenance costs sky-rocketing.

Open Forum

An open forum followed Mr. Johnson's remarks. Robert T. Mason called attention to the fact that locally collected taxes are slowly and surely being squeezed away from use by local institutions and to be piled up by centralized government to become a target of pressure groups and to be used for purposes far from the original intention of the tax. Henry A. Krigbaum pointed out that cities and villages stood to benefit most by the passage of the amendment, which would mean a 33⅓ per cent increase of their gas tax revenue. J. L. Sharkey emphasized that this amendment does not mean any increased taxes, but restricts the manipulation of this particular fund.

Baldwin Named Chairman

Millard E. Baldwin, secretary of the Auto club was named chairman of the group, with Mr. Johnson as assistant, and the following vice chairmen were selected: E. R. Sharrock, president, Caledonia council; J. L. Meredith, mayor of New Bloomington; Clyde Hinamon, executive committeeman township trustees; W. B. Cursey, United Commercial Travelers; Luther Mitchell, county commissioner; Carl Danner, auto dealers; H. A. Krigbaum and J. L. Sharkey, oil industry; A. J. Loudenslager, citizens; Harry Price, implement dealers; Jack Lautenslager, Junior Chamber of Commerce; John Moore and Alfred Whittington, veterans. Arthur Watt was elected secretary.

Plans were made to distribute literature explaining the amendment throughout the county and the next meeting will be held Wednesday night, Oct. 22.

Female Impersonator Sought in Vaughn Death

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18—A man believed to be dressed as a woman is being sought by police in connection with the slaying of Dr. Charles R. Vaughn, Ohio author and boys' club leader whose beaten body was found Sunday in a Halethorpe, Md., tourist cabin.

Lt. Joseph E. Sarsitis, of the Baltimore county police, said he believed the "stout woman" a waitress reported seen with the Pataskala, O., man shortly before his death was probably a man impersonating a woman.

He added a person of a similar description, and wearing a black dress, had been reported in Baltimore inquiring the way to Philadelphia. The person behaved suspiciously and is known to have avoided policemen, Sarsitis said.

Earlier police at Columbus, O., said the eating and drinking habits of the man the waitress reported seeing in a woman's company did not correspond to those of the victim.

Police Chief Charged With Embezzlement

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O., Oct. 18—Police Chief Oscar Day of nearby Yellow Springs, who has been in jail for several days, was charged with embezzlement of municipal funds today by Marcus Shoup, Greene county prosecutor.

Shoup said that the 54-year-old police chief "readily admitted" that he kept an extra set of books in the Yellow Springs traffic court. Day said, however, that he had intended to repay funds obtained in traffic fines.

The prosecutor will ask Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor, to send in an examiner to check the village records and determine how many traffic ticket books are missing.

Shoup said the police chief issued current numbered tickets to traffic violators of his locality but gave to out-of-state residents tickets from a book numbered far in the future.

HARDING TAKES FINDLAY, 20-6; ST. MARY EDGED, 7-6

Smith, Coss Run Wild To Bring Fifth Straight Win To Prexies

That fast and very shifty Harding fullback, Clarence Smith, broke away for two touchdowns on punt runbacks, and big Jim Coss added another on an 86-yard run, as the Presidents made it five straight at Findlay last night by downing the Trojans, 20-6.

Two jinxes were shattered at Findlay. First, the Trojans were beaten—an event the Presidents had been unable to accomplish since 1928. Second, Smith's long gains were not nullified by penalties—an event that has been altogether too common in past games.

The President's didn't escape altogether without nullified touchdowns, however. A five-yard penalty late in the game nullified a Coss to Jack Bishop pass that was good for 58 yards and a touchdown.

Coss Scores First

Jim Coss put the Presidents ahead in the second quarter when he skipped through the middle of the line on a fake reverse and scurried 86 yards for the initial score. Dick Gherman dropkicked the first of his extra two points.

Findlay came right back in the second quarter on a 57-yard march for a touchdown with halfback Ray Kimmel lugging the leather for substantial gains. A forward pass from Kimmel to halfback Bob Wise, good for 26 yards, produced six points for the Trojans.

Clarence Smith cut loose in the early minutes of the third quarter, taking a punt from Findlay's kick specialist, Howard Yawberg, on his own 22-yard line and twisting 78 yards for the touchdown. Blocking by Punk Williams, Bob Ralston and Gene Peadon helped the speedy halfback get away. Smith, a star broken field runner, reversed his field on the runback to dodge a host of Trojan tacklers.

Prexies Make Bid

The Prexies made a strong bid for another touchdown in the opening minutes of the third period, marching to the Findlay six-yard line from the 42 in four plays. But the Trojans made a strong goal line stand and held the Prexies with inches to go for a touchdown. Leffler, Coss, and Gherman tried to plunge through the seven-man line, but failed.

Yawberg punted from behind the goal line and Smith caught the ball on the Trojan 35, and with the help of Peadon's blocking, ran back for the final touchdown.

Dick Huddle nipped a Trojan scoring threat in the final quarter by intercepting a Findlay pass on his own eight-yard line and galloping to the 33.

Area saddlehorse owners planning to enter horses in the meet include L. M. Hall of Marion, L. M. and Harold Wickersham of the Idle Hour Stables, Marion, Clifford and Dallas Campbell of Morral and Mr. and Mrs. James Malcolm of Bucyrus.

CRESTLINE TUMBLES BUCYRUS CREW, 13-7

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Oct. 18—Crestline outscored visiting Bucyrus here last night, 13-7, with Crestline's Don Gehrisch winning the game in the third period by running over a blocked punt for a touchdown.

It was the first loss for the Bucyrians.

Crestline opened the scoring in the first period when Robert Sand took a screen pass from Paul Winemiller and galloped 25 yards for the tally. The same passing combination worked for the extra point.

Bucyrus tied it up in the closing minutes of the first half, climaxing a sustained drive with a touchdown forward pass. The conversion was good.

CENTRAL TO PLAY LAST GAME MONDAY

Central Junior High school is slated to play their last football game of the season when they meet Galion at Harding stadium in a Monday afternoon tilt for leadership of the Tri-City league.

Central gridders have won two and tied one in league games, while Galion has won all three of theirs.

The Central Junior High band will add color to the Central finale, making its initial appearance of the season.

Vernon's band will also show at the Vernon-Bucyrus tilt Wednesday afternoon at the Harding stadium. Vernon and Bucyrus will try to see who can climb out of the league cellar. Both teams have lost three.

Edison juniors are assured of second place in the league with two wins, a tie and a loss. Their final game of the season is scheduled at Upper Sandusky on Tuesday afternoon. Upper Sandusky is not in the league.

W. E. Orcutt, principal of Central Junior High school, hopes that football fans will flock to the two junior finales at Harding stadium to put the cities' junior highs out of the red in football expenses.

Tickets to the two home events may be purchased at the gate on the date of the event.

Twenty-four Classic league keglers stepped from the alleys with a better than 200 score for a single game Thursday night at the Palace Recreation. Of this number, Cliff Hogan was tops, rolling a 234, and close on his heels but not quite up to the mark, was D. Greenland with a 225. Bill Barber and Roy Snyder were high in the three game series with a 619 and a 603.

In the Huber league at the Palace, W. Wolbert knocked the pins for a 211, the highest for the evening in the singles, and P. Gifford was the top man in the series with a 553. Only four keglers bowled 200 or better in this league with P. Gifford taking two straight.

Bowling balls took the place of powder puffs in the Ladies Afternoon League at the Palace and Audrey Lloyd made things look pretty good with a high 190 for the single and a very high 469 for the series.

The Fraternal league and Universal Cooler rolled at the Marion with no changes in the team standings. Individual scoring and team standings follow:

Columbus St. Mary Slips Past Locals in Evenly-Played Game

The toe of Columbus St. Mary's George Kurelic defeated the Irish, 7-6, in Red Bird stadium in Columbus last night.

The Fighting Irish kept the heavier Ramblers on the go in a nip-and-tuck battle that was played most of the time near midfield.

The Irish opened the scoring in the second period when John Baldauf plunged over from the two-yard line after an Irish march downfield. A fifteen-yard unnecessary roughness penalty aided the Irish march.

Ramblers Come Back

The Ramblers came back in the third quarter when John Donnely plunged over from the two climaxing a long 60-yard march. Kurelic set up the score by running from the Irish 20 to the five, and won the game with a kick that added the extra point.

The defeat snapped a Irish three-game winning streak, and set their season record at four wins and two losses

Just as the first half was ending, Irish left end, Ed Moloney, was kicked in the eye and spent the half-time intermission partially blinded. He played in the second half, however.

Cusick Shows Stuff

Bob Cusick, Irish sophomore replacement for injured Bob Stuber, played a full game at left halfback, and played like a veteran.

Irish Coach Gene Fetter used but three substitutes in the game with Paul MacDonald frequently replacing tackle Jim Moloney.

The Irish meet Richwood at the Harding stadium next Friday night in a Mid-State league game.

Kenton Fights Ada To 13-13 Standstill

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 18 — Kenton Wildcats and Ada fought to a 13-13 tie here last night, with a bad pass from center squelching a Wildcat chance for victory in the fourth quarter.

Ada opened the scoring after recovering a Wildcat fumble on the 33. Hover climaxed a downfield march, plunging over for the score and the conversion.

Kenton took the Ada kickoff to their own 40 after the Ada score, and drove steadily downfield with Jack Decker hitting pay dirt from the one. Valentine kicked the conversion.

Ada forged ahead in the second quarter when Smith went eight yards on an end around play for the touchdown. A try for the extra point was not good.

Late in the fourth quarter, Kenton made a goal line stand, then marched down to the Ada eight, with Haugeschild picking up 20 and 17 yards on runs. A Decker to Bob Bailey pass was good for the touchdown and the tieing score.

Three Top-Rated High School Teams Skid Down Ladder in Friday Upsets

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—It looks as if the minute you stick your head up over the mob in this Ohio high school football race, someone comes along and beheads you.

In the second week of unprecedented upsets, the three top-rated clubs in the Buckeye realm were defeated last night as Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Toledo Waite and Hamilton were swept into the list of also rans.

Cathedral Latin, which took over the top spot this week following Canton McKinley's defeat of last Friday, saw its 38-game victory streak snapped by Cleveland Holy Name, 14-7, before 17,026 fans. The Latin lads hadn't tasted defeat since Oct. 17, 1943—just four years ago—when this same Holy Name team triumphed by 7-6.

Waite Bites Dust

Toledo Waite, second placer in the list compiled on votes of Ohio's sports writers, saw its 11-game winning streak ended by a 19-6 loss to twice-defeated Steubenville. Waite had claimed the state title the last two years.

Probably the biggest surprise of the campaign, however, came as the 19-0 victory manufactured by Springfield's resurgent Wildcats over Hamilton's Big Blue team, third placer in the top 10 list. A week ago, after failing to win any of their first four games, Springfield had batted fourth-place Mansfield out of the running by 32-6—but only Coach Jim McDonald expected the Wildcats to carry on against the high-scoring Hamiltonians.

Warren Takes Shaw

East Cleveland Shaw, also a member of the big 10 was a 26-19 victim of Warren, but the rest of the top-rated squads came through in good shape. Last-place Fremont Ross rolled to a 53-0 conquest of Tiffin Columbian; ninth-place Barberton zipped through Toledo Libbey by 28-6; Akron West subdued Akron Buchtel, 31-7; Columbus West edged Columbus North, 10-7, and Massillon whitewashed Mansfield, 27-0.

Grandview, which won its first five games but lost them through use of an ineligible player, whipped Delaware Willis, 25-7; Bexley made it six straight with a 14-7 win over Washington C. H.; Salem won its sixth over Struthers, 40-6; Upper Sandusky defeated Galion, 27-6, for six in a row; Troy whipped Xenia, 20-0, and Piqua was an 18-7 victor over Miamisburg, each reaching the six victory mark. Elyria did the same with a 20-12 win over Cleveland Heights.

CLARIDON 6-MAN SQUAD TRIPS JOHNSVILLE, 14-12

Claridon defeated Johnsville in a Double M league six-man football game at Johnsville yesterday afternoon, 14-12.

It was the first league win for the Claridon crew. They have now won two contests during the season coupled with one tie and three losses.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18—Fairly aggressive buying entered 1948 crop wheat futures on the board of trade as weather in the southwest continued clear and no rain was forecast for this weekend.

Contracts representing this year's crop also advanced, although gains were not as extensive as with July and September wheat. At one time the December delivery was back above $3.00. Corn and oats held firm.

A trade report that the commodity credit corporation was not contemplating withdrawing from the cash wheat market aided sentiment. Rumors of such a withdrawal were widespread yesterday. However, it was said the CCC might not continue to buy as aggressively as it has recently.
